PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

The stove's convection process ensures swift and evenly distributed heating throughout the room and the size of the stove makes it ideal for fairly small homes, weekend cottages and similar, and ensures that both the fuel and the stove are utilised optimally. Morsø 1440 stove is a powerful heating source, with a capacity to provide heating for a living area of up to 75 cubic metres.

The cast iron stove is equipped with a riddling grate and ash pan, which make it easy to remove the ash and clean the stove. Morsø's combustion system includes an air wash system, ensuring that the glass remains clean.

Additional Features

- Convection System
- Pre-heated secondary air supply
- Ash Can
