PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

Introducing the new and revolutionary Metters Wood Fire range—where innovation meets tradition. This timeless freestanding Australian wood heater ticks all the boxes when it comes to warmth, efficiency, convenience & sustainability.

An Aussie icon re-imagined for today's home.

The Kosi No. 35 wood heater delivers on all the innovation of its smaller counterpart, with a bigger firebox capable of heating very large open plan spaces comfortably up to 350m². The larger firebox also improves efficiency and lowers emissions.

Together with the convenience and no-mess of an inbuilt pull out ash box, the Kosi No.35 is a winning combination of Australian heritage and ingenuity.

The large firebox size allows you to load more wood, extending burn times and minimising reloading and can fit multiple 520mm logs side to side with ease.

With the addition of a 3 speed fan and RF remote, the radiant heat created can be better controlled and distributed. The radio frequency (RF) remote capabilities means you can easily control your fan speed from anywhere in the room.

External Room Air - using air from outside to combust the fire improves efficiency & importantly gives you better indoor air quality. An external room air system is a must for new homes, and ideal for well insulated rooms.

The new Metters Kosi No. 35 is an Australian masterpiece meticulously designed for unparalleled efficiency and minimal emissions, allowing you to typically burn less wood but achieve the same level of warmth from other larger fireboxes.

Proudly made in Australia!
